Here is the new Princess S65, the latest in the S-Class.

In collaboration with naval architects Olesinski and the Italian design house Pininfarina, the S65 boasts an external elegance and sporty charm. Its engineered design integrates a large overhang, flooding the living room and the lower wheelhouse with light and air, ideal for these moments of navigation in the open sky.

On arrival, the S65 impresses with an electro-hydraulic teak bain plate and a garage capable of storing an annex of just 3.3 metres. The cockpit offers two seats in U, a spacious area with a foldable teak table and a sunbathing area at the top.

Standing on the flybridge via a teak step ladder, you will access a spacious sportbridge, offering an unstoppable view on the horizon. The layout of a table option here can be transformed into a large sunbath, allowing you to be held out in discovering the handling ability and the control of the S65.

Inside, the convivial lounge offers an environment for guests, equipped with a
